The Staff Selection Commission (SSC) has said that the Combined Graduate Level Examination (CGLE) 2025, which began on September 12 and will continue till September 26, is being conducted smoothly across the country despite a few technical disruptions in some centres.

According to SSC officials, more than 28 lakh aspirants are scheduled to appear for the examination, which is being held in three shifts daily across 227 venues in 129 cities. So far, 5,26,194 candidates have successfully taken the test without major issues. "The examination process is proceeding smoothly at most centres, and candidates have been able to take their tests without hindrance," an SSC official said.

To further improve the examination experience, the Commission has recently launched a 'Feedback Module' on its official website. The facility allows candidates to share their inputs and concerns directly with the Commission. Officials confirmed that appropriate action is being taken based on the suggestions received.

In a move aimed at ensuring fairness and flexibility, SSC has also rescheduled the examination dates for about 1,100 candidates who sought relief due to clashes with other competitive exams or for other valid reasons. Additionally, the Commission has uploaded notices highlighting instances of malpractice on September 10 and September 17, reinforcing its stance on transparency and integrity in the examination process.

The CGLE is one of the largest competitive examinations in the country, attracting lakhs of young aspirants each year who seek recruitment to various Group B and C posts in government departments. With the new feedback system and responsive measures, SSC's latest initiatives are being seen as steps to enhance accountability and candidate-friendly practices in large-scale recruitment.
