The Press Information Bureau (PIB), in collaboration with the All India Institute of Ayurveda, Delhi (AIIA) under the Ministry of Ayush, and Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital, New Delhi, under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, organized a preventive health check-up and consultation camp for Safai Mitras and PIB officials at Shastri Bhawan and the National Media Centre (NMC) today.

This camp, held as part of the Swachhata Hi Seva Campaign 2025 (observed from 17th September to 2nd October), aimed to promote health, well-being, and service-oriented initiatives.

The integrative health camp featured two streams of medical consultation. Ayurveda services at Shastri Bhawan were led by Dr. Rama Kant Yadava, Additional Professor, and Rajaram Mahto, Associate Professor, Department of Kayachikitsa, All India Institute of Ayurveda, Delhi. Concurrently, allopathy services at the National Media Centre were overseen by Dr. Shailesh Kumar, Professor of Medicine, and Dr. Ramesh Chand Meena, Associate Professor & Nodal Officer from Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital. Medical teams from both institutions, including consultants and nursing staff, provided comprehensive health assessments and consultations.

Over 50 Safai Mitra and 200 officials availed consultations at the Ayurvedic Health Camp, while approximately 195 officials underwent preventive health check-ups and consultations at the Allopathy Camp.

Leading by example, Principal Director General (PrDG), PIB, Shri Dharendra Ojha, reached the venue early and was the first to avail consultation at the Ayush camp. His proactive participation, along with that of other senior officials, set a commendable precedent and encouraged wider engagement among staff.

The camp also actively promoted the Swasth Nari Sashakt Parivar Abhiyaan, with enthusiastic participation from female officials and staff, highlighting the government's focus on women's health and family well-being.

Ms. Anupama Bhatnagar, Director General, PIB, felicitated the doctors and medical staff from both AIIA and Dr. Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital, presenting them with certificates of appreciation in recognition of their invaluable contributions during the health camp.
