The Union Minister of Communications and Development of the North Eastern Region, Jyotiraditya M. Scindia, visited the Kohima War Cemetery, where he was warmly received by local officials and representatives. The Minister paid homage to the soldiers who laid down their lives in the Battle of Kohima, one of the most significant turning points of the Second World War. He noted that the War Cemetery stands as a symbol of courage, sacrifice, and shared history, and continues to be an important heritage landmark drawing visitors from across India and abroad.

Later, the Minister visited the Garrison Café, an important cultural space in Kohima celebrating the region's military legacy and creative spirit. The café, inspired by wartime history and local Naga traditions, has emerged as a vibrant hub for youth, artists, and tourists. The Minister had a cup of coffee at the café and appreciated how such spaces blend heritage with contemporary entrepreneurship, contributing to community engagement and local economic growth. Recognising it as a key product contributing to the state's identity, the government of Nagaland has adopted coffee as its unique selling point (USP).

The Minister will also be visiting the Hornbill Festival tomorrow, one of India's most celebrated cultural festivals showcasing the rich traditions, craftsmanship, music, and diversity of Nagaland. His visit underscores the Ministry's commitment to promoting cultural tourism and strengthening the socio-economic vibrancy of the North Eastern Region.

“When you go home, tell them of us and say,
For your tomorrow, we gave our today...”

These immortal words on the epitaph at the Kohima War Cemetery will remain indelible in my memory after visiting this historic site, where every corner carries the weight of remarkable courage.... pic.twitter.com/8keDk9qW6U
