A delegation of 57 research scholars, from leading think tanks, visited Air Force Station Hindon a premier base of the Indian Air Force (IAF), on 10 Jan 26, as part of an outreach program. The delegation comprised of research scholars from the Manohar Parrikar - Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses (MP-IDSA), Observer Research Foundation (ORF), Vivekananda International Foundation (VIF), Centre for Aerospace Power and Strategic Studies (CAPSS), Centre for Land Warfare Studies (CLAWS), National Maritime Foundation (NMF), India Foundation, Centre for Contemporary China Studies (CCCS), United Service Institution of India (USI) and Centre for Joint Warfare Studies (CENJOWS).

The visit aimed to provide the scholars an opportunity to engage with IAF personnel to understand the operational aspects, and explore avenues for collaborative research. The scholars were received by the Air Officer Commanding, Air Force Station Hindon, who welcomed them and expressed his enthusiasm in fostering partnerships between the IAF and academic institutions.

The scholars were given a comprehensive briefing on the operational aspects of the IAF, including its history, capabilities and achievements. The delegation was also given an opportunity to interact with IAF personnel, who shared their experiences and insights on various aspects of operations.

The visit was a significant step in promoting mutual understanding and cooperation between the IAF and think tanks. It also paves the way for further collaborations through research projects and academic exchanges
