

Regarding transparency in medical insurance schemes-Laid

1. The Committee () :
The Committee has been informed that the Government is considering the possibility of introducing a new medical insurance scheme for the private sector. The Committee is concerned that the introduction of such a scheme may lead to a two-tier system, where those who can afford to pay for private insurance receive better quality of care than those who rely on the public system. The Committee is also concerned that the introduction of a new scheme may lead to a loss of transparency in the way that medical services are funded and provided. The Committee is therefore asking the Government to provide more information on the details of the proposed scheme, including how it will be funded, how it will be managed, and how it will be monitored. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of transparency, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is open to public scrutiny. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of equity, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the needs of the population, rather than on the ability to pay. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of efficiency, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the most efficient use of resources. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of sustainability, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the long-term interests of the population. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of accountability, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the responsibility of those who are involved in the process. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of transparency, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is open to public scrutiny. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of equity, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the needs of the population, rather than on the ability to pay. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of efficiency, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the most efficient use of resources. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of sustainability, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the long-term interests of the population. The Committee is also asking the Government to consider the possibility of introducing a new scheme that would be based on a principle of accountability, where the way that medical services are funded and provided is based on the responsibility of those who are involved in the process.