The National Commission for Scheduled Castes (NCSC) successfully organized “Project Super 50” a Civil Services Examination Guidance Programme today at its Headquarters in New Delhi. The theme of the programme was “Guide • Mentor • Empower”.

Hon’ble Governor of Tripura, Shri Indrasena Reddy Nallu, attended the programme as the Chief Guest. He addressed the civil services aspirants and provided detailed guidance on important topics such as how to prepare for the Civil Services, the history of Civil Services in India, and the strategies required for success.

Shri Kishore Makwana, Hon’ble Chairman, NCSC, spoke in detail about the formation of the Commission, its mandate, powers, and the role of NCSC in the empowerment of Scheduled Castes. Dr. Parth Biswas, Hon’ble Member, NCSC, called upon the youth to adopt Dr. B.R. Ambedkar’s inspiring mantra “Educate, Organise, Agitate”. Shri Vaddepalli Ramchander, Hon’ble Member, was also present on the occasion. Shri Gudey Srinivas, Secretary, NCSC, gave valuable tips to the aspirants regarding the Civil Services Examination.

Specially invited senior IAS and IRS officers shared their personal experiences, exam preparation strategies, and practical aspects of administrative life with the civil services aspirants. Senior officials of the Commission stated that this project is a concrete step towards empowering Scheduled Caste youth in the academic and administrative spheres. A large number of civil services aspirants, serving civil servants, and academicians attended the programme.
