The Ministry of Textiles has highlighted the significant achievements and dedicated efforts of the Textile Committee under Special Campaign 6, being undertaken from 2nd to 31st October 2026, with a focus on institutional cleanliness, efficient record management, disposal of pending matters and promotion of sustainable practices. The Textile Committee has actively participated in the campaign by undertaking various activities aimed at improving workplace cleanliness, optimizing office space, reviewing physical and electronic records, and ensuring the timely disposal of redundant materials and e-waste, in accordance with applicable guidelines.

The activities undertaken by the Committee reflect its commitment to the objectives of Special Campaign 6, particularly the promotion of a clean, organized and efficient working environment. The campaign also encourages responsible resource management, effective utilization of office space and the adoption of sustainable practices in day-to-day official functioning. Through these initiatives, the Textile Committee has contributed to the broader vision of the Ministry of Textiles to institutionalize cleanliness, enhance administrative efficiency and promote accountability across its organizations and subordinate offices. The Committee remains committed to sustaining the best practices institutionalized during the campaign and further enhancing accountability and efficient workplace management.

1st Week from 2nd to 9th October 2026 – Record Management, Space Management Planning and Scrap Disposal & Cleaning of Record Rooms and Storage Racks - The record racks were cleaned, dusted and re-organized. All files and documents were arranged neatly in proper order for easy identification and quick retrieval. Obsolete and unwanted materials were removed and the available space was utilized efficiently. The exercise ensured proper upkeep of official records, easy traceability and quick retrieval of files. The officials and staff were also sensitized about maintaining systematic storage and periodic upkeep of records.
