Form 1A

Notice proposing different terms for an assured tenancy arising by way of succession under the Rent Act 1977 or the Rent (Agriculture) Act 1976 in the private rented sector

Section 39(9) Housing Act 1988, as amended

For use in the private rented sector in England only.

This notice can be used by either a landlord or a tenant to propose changes to the terms of an assured tenancy, which arises by succession under the Rent Act 1977 or the Rent (Agriculture) Act 1976.

This notice must be served no later than the first anniversary of the date on which the predecessor, who held a fixed-term tenancy under the Rent Act 1977 or Rent (Agriculture) Act 1976, died.

Do not use this notice if you are a landlord proposing only an increase in rent with no change in any other terms. Instead you should use:

Form 4A: Landlord's notice proposing a new rent for assured tenancies in the private rented sector or Form 5A: Landlord's or Licensor's notice proposing a new rent or licence fee under an assured agricultural occupancy in the private rented sector. These forms contain guidance on when such a rent increase can take place, and are available at GOV.UK.

Information for the recipient

This notice is your landlord or tenant proposing different terms for your new assured tenancy now that it has replaced the previous Rent Act 1977 or Rent (Agriculture) Act 1976 tenancy. This assured tenancy replaced the previous tenancy on the death of the previous tenant. During the first year of the assured tenancy, either the landlord or the tenant can propose new terms.

The existing and proposed new terms are set out below.

If you disagree with the proposed terms, try to negotiate with your landlord or tenant. Alternatively, you can refer this notice to the tribunal for a decision on the terms that might reasonably be found in the assured tenancy. This must be done within three months of the date the notice is served.

There is information at the end of this notice on what to do if you receive this notice, and where you can seek advice.

Notes to landlord

Note 4.1: Insert how often the rent is paid, such as per week, fortnight, four weeks, month. This is the tenancy period. This must be a month or less.

Note 4.3: If there has not been a rent increase since the start of the tenancy, leave blank.

Note 4.4: This question is required to show whether 52 weeks or 53 weeks need to pass since the last increase. See Note A3. If there has not been an increase since 11 February 2003, leave blank.

Note 4.5: Insert how often the rent should be paid, such as per week, fortnight, four weeks, month. This is the tenancy period. This must be a month or less.

Note 4.6: There are rules about how soon this date can be. See guidance in Note A at the end of this notice.

Note 4.7: It is helpful for the tenants to understand the breakdown of charges included in the rent. Landlords should only include charges which are included in the rent and which the tenant does not pay directly to a third party, or to the landlord in addition to rent.

As this represents a part of the full rent, the frequency is the same as the tenancy period mentioned in question 4.5.

Communication services can include access to a landline telephone, the internet, cable TV and Satellite TV.

Follow the guidance in Note B at the end of this notice.

5. What you (the tenant) should do next

5.1 If you accept the proposed new rent, you should make arrangements to pay it.

- If you pay by standing order, update the amount. Get in touch with your bank if you are unsure how to do this.
- If you are claiming Universal Credit, you should tell the Department for Work and Pensions once the rent increase starts. You can find advice at: www.gov.uk/universal-credit/changes-of-circumstances
- If you are claiming Housing Benefit, you should tell your Housing Benefit Office in your local authority. You can find advice at: www.gov.uk/housing-benefit/report-a-change-of-circumstances
- To check affordability, you can search for Local Housing Allowance rates in your local authority at: <https://lha-direct.voa.gov.uk/>

5.2 If you do not accept the new rent, there are steps you must take before the starting date shown in question 4.6. The new rent will start from this date unless you take one of the following actions:

- Agree with your landlord, in writing, to change or delay the rent increase.
- Refer the new rent to the tribunal if you believe the proposed rent is higher than the market rate, or if you believe there is another problem with this notice. For example, if the landlord did not give it to you at least two months before the date of the proposed increase.

The application to the tribunal for a determination of a market rent can be found at:

<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/apply-for-a-market-rent-determination>

The landlord will be able to reply to your application, and you will then have the opportunity to respond to their reply.

The tribunal must receive the application before the start date your landlord has given in question 4.6. If you refer the proposed new rent to the tribunal, tell your landlord or they may otherwise assume you agree with the new rent.

The tribunal can consider other factors like the condition of the property when deciding what the rent for your home should be.

The tribunal will decide what rent the landlord could reasonably expect if the property were let on the open market on the same terms. The amount the tribunal decides might be higher or lower than the rent your landlord has proposed. However, you will not be required to pay more than the rent the landlord first proposed in question 4.5. You do not have to pay the new rent amount until the tribunal has made its decision.

You might find it helpful to check similar properties in your area to get an idea of the market rate.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

5.3 If you have any questions about this notice or are worried you might not be able to pay your rent, you should speak with your landlord and/or seek advice. These are places you can find advice:

- the Shelter website: www.shelter.org.uk
- a citizens advice, housing advice centre, or law centre
- a legal representative – you can find a solicitor at: <https://solicitors.lawsociety.org.uk/>

If you're worried about becoming homeless, you should contact your local authority for support.

Note A: When the proposed new rent can start

- A1. The date in question 4.6 of this notice must meet the three requirements below. These requirements are set out in section 13(2) of the Housing Act 1988, as amended by the Regulatory Reform (Assured Periodic Tenancies) (Rent Increases) Order 2003 and the Renters' Rights Act 2025.
- A2. First requirement: in all cases, this notice must be served at least two months before the new rent can start.
- A3. Second requirement: The first rent increase cannot start until 52 weeks have passed since the tenancy began. For assured agricultural occupancies, this rule is different, and you should use Form 5 in the social rented sector or Form 5A in the private rented sector.

In most cases, any further rent increase must be at least 52 weeks after the previous increase. However, the new rent date cannot be more than 6 days before the anniversary of the date given in question 4.4. If it would be, the landlord must wait an extra week (53 weeks in total) before the increase can start.

This rule prevents rent increase dates from drifting earlier each year, because 52 weeks is slightly less than a calendar year. It ensures that rent increases happen on a consistent annual cycle, protecting tenants from increasingly early rent demands. For example, for a weekly tenancy, the landlord could choose a fixed date such as the first Monday in April each year. This rule, introduced on 11th February 2003, is the reason for question 4.4.

- A4. Third requirement: in all cases, the new rent must start at the beginning of a tenancy period. First example: if a monthly tenancy starts on the 20th of April, the new rent must start on the 20th day of the month when the increase begins. Second example: if a weekly tenancy started on a Monday, the new rent must begin on a Monday.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

Note B: Guidance on charges included in the rent

B1. In the second and third columns of the table in question 4.7, write either 'nil' or the amount of the proposed charge (which may be the same as now). Only include bills or charges if they are included within the rent and the tenant does not pay these directly to a third party, or to the landlord in addition to rent. Only include service charges where the tenant has agreed in the tenancy agreement to pay a fixed amount.

Do not include any variable service charges (within the meaning of section 18 of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1985) that change based on costs.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

Form 5A

Landlord's or Licensor's notice proposing a new rent or licence fee under an assured agricultural occupancy in the private rented sector

Housing Act 1988 section 13(2), as amended

This notice tells you that your landlord is proposing a new rent.

For use in the private rented sector in England only. For tenancies in the Social Rented Sector, use Form 5.

This notice should be used when proposing a new rent under an assured agricultural occupancy. For assured tenancies in the social rented sector use Form 4, and for assured tenancies in the private rented sector use Form 4A.

This notice must be served on the tenant(s) at least two months before the new rent can start.

Information for the tenant

This notice is given by your landlord to propose that you pay an increased rent from the date in question 4.5. You should read this notice in full immediately.

If you disagree with the proposed rent or have any questions about this notice you should discuss it with your landlord and/or seek advice.

To challenge the rent you must take action before the date given in question 4.5.

There is information in Section 5 on how to take action if you disagree with the proposed rent and where you can find free advice.

Note: If you have an assured agricultural occupancy you may have a licensor instead of a landlord. In those circumstances you will be a licensee and pay a licence fee instead of a rent.

Except in Section 2, references in this notice to a landlord, tenant, tenancy or rent, include references to a licensor, licensee(s), license and licence fee respectively.

Note to landlord: You need to be able to evidence that you served the notice on your tenant. If your written tenancy agreement specifies agreed methods of service, use one of those.

If it does not you can serve it by handing it over to your tenant in person, leaving it at the tenant's address or sending it by registered post.

5. Guidance for tenant(s)

- 5.1 As an assured tenant, you have the right to stay in the property unless your landlord regains possession under Section 8 of the Housing Act 1988. If your landlord wants to end the tenancy, they must give the correct amount of notice. They should use Form 3A: Notice seeking possession of a property let on an assured tenancy or an assured agricultural occupancy in the private rented sector published on GOV.UK. Your landlord must give a valid reason for seeking possession. If you do not leave after the notice period has expired, your landlord can apply to the court to regain possession.

If you want to end the tenancy, you must give at least two months' notice unless you and your landlord have agreed a shorter period. You can give notice to end the tenancy at any point.

- 5.2 As an assured tenant, you have the right to apply to a tribunal for a determination of the market rent for the tenancy. The application to the tribunal for a determination of the market rent can be found at: <https://www.gov.uk/guidance/apply-for-a-market-rent-determination>

You can apply for a market rent determination in the first six months of the tenancy. You can also apply later if you believe a proposed rent increase is higher than the market rate.

You can also refer a rent increase notice to the tribunal for a determination if you believe the notice is invalid.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations make provision in relation to the forms to be used under the Housing Act 1988 in relation to a private sector assured tenancy.

Regulation 3 prescribes the new forms, set out in the Schedule, which are to apply to any assured tenancy (except an assured tenancy in relation to social housing). In relation to the notice for possession proceedings under section 8 of the Housing Act 1988, the regulation provides for this to be a form published by the Secretary of State (as replaced from time to time) and sets out the requirements in relation to its publication which include the form being available for inspection during normal office hours at the principal offices of the Secretary of State (2 Marsham Street, London, SW1P 4DF).

Regulation 4 revokes the Assured Tenancies and Agricultural Occupancies (Forms) (England) Regulations 2015 in relation to any private assured tenancy.

Regulation 5 makes transitional provisions in relation to cases where the existing forms in the Assured Tenancies and Agricultural Occupancies (Forms) (England) Regulations 2015 will continue to apply.

An impact assessment has not been prepared for this instrument as a full assessment was produced in relation to the 2025 Act. Copies can be obtained at https://publications.parliament.uk/pa/bills/cbill/59-01/0127/amend/Renters_Rights_Bill-IA.pdf or from the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government at 2 Marsham Street, London, SW1P 4DF.
