EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations are made under section 63(2A) and (2B) of the Landlord and Tenant Act 1954 (“the 1954 Act”), which were inserted by section 65 of the Product Security and Telecommunications Infrastructure Act 2022 (“the 2022 Act”), and enable the conferral of jurisdiction on the First-tier Tribunal and the Upper Tribunal (“the Tribunals”) in respect of certain proceedings under Part 2 of the 1954 Act.

Sections 61 and 63 of the 2022 Act made amendments to Part 2 of the 1954 Act in relation to tenancies whose primary purpose is to confer code rights. In particular, those amendments introduced a statutory framework governing such tenancies, including provision for their renewal and for compensation in connection with the exercise of code rights. Regulation 3 concerns proceedings arising within that statutory framework.

Regulation 3 applies to two categories of proceedings. The first category comprises proceedings under Part 2 of the 1954 Act where the tenancy is a “subsisting agreement” and the primary purpose of the tenancy is to confer “code rights”. The second category comprises proceedings under section 34B of the 1954 Act. These proceedings will now be determined by the Tribunals rather than the court.

Regulation 4 preserves the jurisdiction of the court in relation to proceedings under Part 2 of the 1954 Act that were started before the date on which these Regulations come into force. Proceedings commenced in the court before this date are not affected and will continue to be determined by that court as if these Regulations had not been made.

Regulation 5 makes a consequential amendment to the High Court and County Courts Jurisdiction Order 1991 (S.I. 1991/724) to reflect that the jurisdiction that would otherwise be exercised by the court is now exercisable by the Tribunals.
