 - (c) in the case of a ballot for which electronic voting or hybrid voting is a selected means of voting, the computer networks and systems which P intends to use for conducting the ballot are covered by one or more qualifying Cyber Essentials Plus certificates awarded to P.

The power to make an order under paragraph (a) is exercisable by statutory instrument and such an instrument is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2)—

whenever it appears to the scrutineer appropriate to do so and, in particular, when the conditions specified in subsection (5) are satisfied;
- (e) to take such steps as appear to the scrutineer to be appropriate for the purpose of enabling the scrutineer to make the report (see section 72O);

- (5) The conditions referred to in subsection (4)(d) are—
 - (a) that a request that the scrutineer inspect the register or examine the copy is made to the scrutineer during the appropriate period by a member of the trade union who suspects that the register is not, or at the relevant date was not, accurate and up-to-date, and
 - (b) that the scrutineer does not consider that the member's suspicion is ill-founded.

- (9) The trade union must, before the scrutineer begins to carry out the scrutineer's functions, either—
 - (a) send a notice stating the name of the scrutineer to every member of the union to whom it is reasonably practicable to send such a notice, or

(10) The trade union must—

- (a) supply to the scrutineer as soon as is reasonably practicable after the relevant date a copy of the register of names and addresses of its members as at that date, and
- (b) comply with any request made by the scrutineer to inspect the register.

(11) Where the register is kept by means of a computer the duty imposed on the trade union by subsection (10)(a) is either to supply a legible printed copy or (if the scrutineer prefers) to supply a copy of the computer data and allow the scrutineer use of the computer to read it at any time during the period when the scrutineer is required to retain custody of the copy.

(12) The trade union must ensure that the scrutineer duly carries out the scrutineer's functions and that there is no interference with the scrutineer's carrying out of those functions which would make it reasonable for any person to call the scrutineer's independence in relation to the union into question.

(13) The trade union must comply with all reasonable requests made by the scrutineer for the purposes of, or in connection with, the carrying out of the scrutineer's functions.

(14) The trade union must, so far as reasonably practicable, send to the scrutineer at least one of the following in respect of each person who is eligible to vote by electronic voting—

(3) The report must also state—

(b) take all such other steps for notifying the contents of the report to the members of the union (whether by publishing the report or otherwise) as it is the practice of the union to take when matters of general interest to all its members need to be brought to their attention.

(7) Any such copy or notification must be accompanied by a statement that the union will, on request, supply any member of the union with a copy of the report, either free of charge or on payment of such reasonable fee as may be specified in the notification.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order amends the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 (“the 1992 Act”) and the Employment Rights Act 1996.

Part 2 of this Order amends the 1992 Act to provide that, before certain ballots and elections under that Act take place, the responsible person must determine the means of voting by which the ballot or election is to be conducted.

Schedule 1 to this Order inserts Schedule ZA1 into the 1992 Act. Schedule ZA1 sets out further requirements relating to the determination.

The means of voting specified are postal voting, electronic voting, hybrid voting and workplace voting. Part 2 of this Order amends the 1992 Act to provide for the requirements which apply where the responsible person determines that a ballot or election is to be conducted by these means of voting.

Schedule 2 to this Order inserts Schedule A1A into the 1992 Act. Schedule A1A sets out certain requirements which relate to electronic voting and hybrid voting. Provisions inserted into the body of the Act apply the requirements in Schedule A1A where relevant.

Part 3 of this Order makes an amendment to section 105 of the Employment Rights Act 1996 (unfair dismissal: redundancy) which is consequential on section 77 of the Employment Rights Act 2025 (c. 36) (protection against dismissal for taking industrial action). Article 13 makes transitional provision for that amendment.

A full impact assessment has not been produced for this instrument as no, or no significant, impact on the private, voluntary or public sector is foreseen. A de minimis assessment has been produced and is available from the Department for Business, Innovation, Science and Trade, Old Admiralty Building, London, SW1A 2PA.
